AAA President's Message

It gives me immense pleasure to write the introduction for this Statistics Handbook, which is being released during the 10th Asian Indoor Championships.

Asian Athletics is excited to be here in Astana for the 10th edition of the Asian Indoor Championships. This Statistics Handbook contains all the records registered by Asian Athletes at the Asian and World level.

This Handbook serves as proof that even during the Pandemic, our beloved sport stood strong. There have been many improvements to records and lists. I wish this handbook will trigger good memories as well as provide references for the readers while the indoor events take place in Astana.

My Special Thanks go out to the statisticians who work tirelessly to document every significant performance in our sport. Editing and presenting this handbook would have been impossible without their support and dedication.

I hope this handbook will help and inform all those interested in following the events and athletes in Astana.

Gen. Dahlan Al Hamad
President
Asian Athletics Association

Editor's Note & Acknowledgments

This Statistics Handbook is a work hugely inspired by various Statistical compendiums published by the World Athletics and excellently edited by my long-time friend Mark Butler for the past several years.

Indoor athletics in Asia is relatively young when compared to the rest of the World. I had my first glimpse of indoor athletics in Asia when Rolf von der Laage's excellent SAATFA News Bulletin published the Asian all-time indoor top lists for men's high jump and pole vault besides a list of Asian Indoor Records for Women. Japan was the dominant team at that time and regularly conducted indoor competitions in Tokyo and Nagoya in the 1960s. Teymour Ghiassi (the top Iranian high jumper at that time), the legendary Taiwanese sprint queen Chi Cheng and shot putter Josephine de la Vina from the Philippines were the only non-Japanese names that appeared in that "March-1972" number of the above bulletin.

Ghiassi took part in competitions organised in Germany while Cheng registered all her marks in the United States. It was in the US collegiate competitions that many Asian students used to have their first experience in the indoor arena. You may still find Cheng's indoor long jump mark of 6.42m, which was created in New York on 27 Feb 1970, in the National Records section of this Handbook. It was an Asian indoor best at that time!

As mentioned earlier, Japan used to organise indoor athletics meetings for almost six decades now. Iran joined from the West, to have its own indoor competitions in Tehran and Rasht. China was a latecomer to it but is having a crowded calendar nowadays. After the disintegration of the Soviet Union, Central Asia got a major athletics nation in Kazakhstan. The emigrant athletes to Bahrain and Qatar further evolved the level of competition in the continent. However, Qatar got its own native talent in athletes like Mutaz Essa Barshim.

The increased number of enthusiasts prompted the Asian Athletics Association to establish its own Indoor championships and the first edition was successfully organised by Iran in 2004 in Tehran. The biennial championships were held regularly until 2020 when the ninth edition scheduled at Hangzhou (China) had to be cancelled due to the pandemic.

Astana in Kazakhstan is organising the championships from February 10 to 12, this year. They exemplarily organised the Astana Meeting, a World Athletics Indoor Tour Silver Label meet, in January which served as a 'dress rehearsal' for the Asian indoor championships. Kazakhstan was one of the eight countries that took part in all editions of the championships held so far. Their athletes won a total of 10 medals, including three gold, in the World Indoor Championships to date. Pole vaulter Igor Potapovich was the first athlete to win a gold for his country in 1997 in Paris. Olga Shishigina followed suit with an emphatic win in women's 60m hurdles during the following edition in Maebashi. However, their BIG moment came in 2010 when triple jumper Olga Rypakova stunned the World to conquer the title in a gigantic 15.14m hop, step and jump in Doha.

China secured 19 medals, including three gold, in the World indoor championships while Qatar won six with Barshim taking the gold in 2014 with a whopping 2.38m high jump at Sopot.

In the Asian indoor championships, China garnered 119 medals (52 gold, 36 silver and 31 bronze) to prove its supremacy. Iran with 93 medals (23 of them Gold), Kazakhstan 92 (36 G), India 58 (12 G), Qatar 47 (26 G), Japan 41 (14 G) and Bahrain 35 (16 G) are the other top medal earners to date.

In this handbook, you may find a Year-wise Participation Summary, a List of Past Medallists, Best National Placings per event, National Indoor Records, Progression of Asian Indoor Records, Asian All-Time Top Lists and an Index of Countries that took part in the previous editions of the championships with country-wise medal tally and best performers' chart. A list of Asian athletes' achievements in the World Indoor Championships is also included.

Participation Summary:

This section covers edition-wise participation by countries and the number of medal-winning nations. The number of Asian Indoor Records created during that edition was also mentioned. You may find the details of the records in the progression Asian Records section.

List of Past Medallists:

In this section, you may find the list of all medallists in all events conducted during the past eight editions of the championships. It includes now discontinued 200m and racewalking events from the first edition of the championships in 2004 separately. The medallists who underwent doping disqualifications, either from an "in competition" test through any retrospective sanctions from an earlier date have been excluded from the list and the other medallists were upgraded to the next place. The "▲" indicates such changes in the respective year of competition for each event.

Best National Placings:

This section gives information about the best order of finish (in finals or qualifying rounds, as the case may be) for each nation in each event. Here again, the "▲" symbol shows the change/upgrade in the order of finish following the disqualification an athlete concerned.

National Indoor Records:

The best-known performance per event per nation is included if a country does not have its own national indoor records. However, wherever a country is having such records but does not recognise a particular performance the same is mentioned with a "*" after the country code for the respective event. Additional notes (#) can be found at the bottom of each event where a superior mark is not recognised by the respective national federation for various reasons. In any track event "+" shows an intermediate mark en route to a longer distance. Manual (hand) timings in track events are indicated with "m" after such performance. The Central Asian republics (KAZ, KGZ, TJK, TKM, UZB) recognised their athletes' performances from the Soviet Era. Many such marks were superior to the listed Asian Indoor Records. However, those marks are considered only in this section as per the interest of the respective members.

Progression of Asian Indoor Records:

In this section, we have listed the evolution of best Asian indoor marks from 1993 onwards as most of the current Asian AA members joined our family in that year. However, in some strong events, we have included the records created prior to that year.

Asian All-Time Indoor Top Lists:

You may find in this section the Top-20 Performers (athletes) in each event besides the Top-10 performances per event. Wherever the majority of the list is dominated by athletes from China and Japan, additional top athletes from other countries are included in the respective events. This section is the dedicated work of my friend and ATFS member Felix Capilla, who also contributed richly to compiling the evolution of the Asian Indoor Records.

Asia in World Indoor Championships:

This section covers every medallist from Asian nations that took part in the World Athletics Indoor Championships held so far. Where there is no medal in an edition, the best performer in both men and women's divisions are included.

Country Index:

This section shows a list of countries that participated in the past eight editions of the Asian Indoor Championships in alphabetic order with their year of participation. A separate medal table for each country in each edition is also included. For countries who did not win any medals so far, the best performer in each division is enclosed for ready reference. Wherever relevant, the country-wise medal tally was also adjusted after the doping disqualifications occurred in the past.

Acknowledgements:

I principally acknowledge the support received from Heinrich Hubbeling, the Asian AA Statistician, whom for the past 35 years compiling the annual and all-time Asian Ranking Lists. Association of Track and Field Statisticians, in which I am a member since 1982, for moulding me as who I am today.

Last but not least, to the Asian Athletics Association, especially to its President Gen. Dahlan Al Hamad and Secretary-General Mr A. Shuggumarran for having permitted me to produce and edit this statistics handbook on behalf of the AAA.

A work of this nature takes a great deal of time and energy, and hence errors are likely to creep in. I shall be highly thankful if you could send any additions, corrections and comments to my email ID sportsmurali@gmail.com and/or sec@asianathleticsassociation.org

I am confident that this handbook will be useful to the fans, media and officials in following the 10th Asian Indoor Athletics Championships.

I take this opportunity to wish all participants, officials and the organisers every success.

Progression of Asian Indoor Records

This list shows the evolution of Asian Indoor Records (or Best Performances) from 1993 when the Central Asian Republics (KAZ, KGZ, TJK, TKM, UZB) joined the Asian Athletics Association. However, in some strong events where the records created earlier by athletes from other Asian nations were relevant, the same has been included. Compiled with major inputs from Felix Capilla, Mirko Jalava, Heinrich Hubbeling, Michel Saint-Raymond and members of the Association of Track and Field Statisticians.

Asian Indoor All-Time Top Lists

This list is principally compiled by Felix Capilla (ATFS). The marks in italics show the athletes took part in the former Soviet Union (URS) until 1991 and CIS in 1992. Athletes from many Central Asian Republics had their best performances during the Soviet Era. However, we leave it up to the readers to form their own opinions on how to value such marks.
